What's Happening At the Eagle

Renovations at the Eagle Hotel continued for most of the winter. The four chimneys and the front steps have been completed. Most of the plastering has been done, except the stairwell and some on the third floor. There has been some leakage through the stone walls, and the plastering can't be finished until the stonework is repaired when the weather warms a bit. But we are getting there!

At Last, A Meeting

Because of some truly terrible weather on meeting nights, the January and February meetings both had to be cancelled. We finally met on March 22, at St. Peter's Episcopal Church. Trudy Brown presented her long delayed program on antique postcards and other memorabilia of old time Waterford. Seeing these things brought back fond memories to many of the historical society members.

Judson House to Open for the Season

The Judson House will be opening on the first Wednesday of April and each Wednesday after that, or by appointment. So come and see us and learn a bit about the history of Waterford.

Upcoming Meeting

The next Fort LeBoeuf Historical Society meeting will be held at the Judson House on Thursday, April 26 at 7:00pm. Local resident Bill Phillips will speak on the history of fur trapping. Please join us.

It seems that many have not yet paid their dues for 2007. They were payable on January 1st, but because of meeting cancellations in Jan. & Feb., a lot of memberships have not been paid. So please get them in as soon as possible.

Scholarship Raffle

William Czarniecki and Jan McLaughlin have offered to donate artwork to be raffled for the scholarship fund. However we need a chairman or committee to handle this. Please contact us if you can work on this worth while project.

Gaming Revenue Funds May Be Available to Us

The Erie County Regional Assets Task Force is conducting a survey to determine if arts and cultural venues of the county will be eligible to receive funding from Casino revenue. The Ft. LeBoeuf Historical Society has sent information to the task force and we are waiting to see if we might qualify.
